Flood Control
on Ozan Creek
Is Timely Project

The great Ozan flood control dam and hydro-power project on Little Missouri river just north of us at Murfreesboro is well on the road to reality.

Another serious but disputed project is the proposed Little Missouri dam on Little river just above Fulton, recommended by U. S. Engineers but opposed by Sevier county citizens.

These are "big time" projects involving thousands of people spread over many miles of territory and when one of them emerges from the never-never land of debate into the reality of construction we think it is a magnificent accomplishment.

And yet, the most significant thing of all is how home citizens come alive to the possibilities of flood control and land development in their own backyard—be the project ever so small and humble.

You were thinking the same thoughts I was when you read yesterday's account of north Hempstead county landowners circulating a petition pledging the U. S. Engineers co-operation and maintenance work should Ozan creek and Little Missouri river be given a channel-straightening project.

The local angle of flood control was covered at a meeting of landowners in Hempstead county court house Tuesday night with action expected on the petition at today's U. S. Engineers' meeting at Prescott.

The big projects always get a big newspaper "play," and everybody knows about them—but too few are disposed to think of them as their folks' business. But our folks know what the score is when they apply the principles behind the big projects to problems in their own back yard—the "back yard" in this instance being a respectable tributary which goes under the name of Ozan creek.

Even if Restricted, UN Body Could Help Build World Unity
By JAMES THRASHER

There probably were undertones of domestic politics in South Africa's half-hearted refusal to sign the United Nations Charter.

Africaners generally seem to resent UN "interference" in their treatment of the country's Indian minority, which they hold to be an internal problem. Also the present South African government, which they describe as "white-minority," and may be trying to undermine its complete break with former Premier Smuts' attitude and policy.

Nevertheless, Delegate Louw's speech must have received a sympathetic audience. He said that his two years' record did not give grounds for optimism toward the UN's future. He criticized the continual dissension and mutual distrust in the Security Council.

He spoke of the UN's "inspiring performance," and described what he feels is the world's attitude toward the organization with such words as disillusionment, frustration and exasperation.

Nor were Mr. Louw's other crucial words that the general assembly heard on the day that he spoke. A representative of Burma referred to the UN as the "disunited nations." A Turkish delegate said the last year's record was far from satisfactory. Speakers from China and Uruguay expressed similar sentiments.

Earlier Assembly sessions have been stormy, but there has been little criticism of the UN itself. The delegates, especially those of the smaller nations, proceeded with a sort of desperate optimism that amounted at times to self-deception. But then, as always, the tension of the dispute between Russia and the west was ominously present.

The tension has increased until even the etiquette of diplomacy cannot begin to exercise its primary function of keeping the peace until the cold war is scented by outside agreement.

Yet it does not seem that any good can come from the resistance to South Africa or any other discouraged member. It would be a tremendous blow if Russia or any other big power should quit the UN in anger because its nationalistic aims were thwarted. But even such a blow might lead to a more solidly united world.

Allies Demand Showdown on Berlin Issue

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—Western power delegates met today on the Berlin crisis and authoritative sources said they were framing a joint demand for security council action to lift the Soviet blockade. The council takes up the Berlin issue again tomorrow. Hope vanished for mediation outside the council with Russia's reported rejection of conciliation efforts by the so-called neutral states.

American, British and French delegates studied the Kremlin's answer to the neutral states' mediation efforts. The spokesman of the Soviet note still was not made public, but Western sources said it set back the Berlin dispute to where it was six weeks ago.

Members of the 11-nation security council prepared to meet this afternoon (8 a. m. CST) on the Palestine situation. A reliable source said they will be asked to crack down harder on both Arabs and Jews to keep the peace.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, American mediator since the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, is expected to speak.

Britain was expected to demand of Israel's representatives what progress has been made in tracking down the assassins of Count Bernadotte.

The six "neutrals" of the council abandoned their efforts to mediate. Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bignardi, acting chairman of the council for the Berlin discussions, called the council meeting after receiving a Russian reply to the neutrals on what terms would be acceptable.

The Russian answer was not made public. Authoritative sources said it rejected mediation, insisted the Berlin issue was outside the authority of the Security Council, and asked negotiations revert to the Aug. 30 four-power Moscow agreement. Under this the Russians would raise the blockade.

And the Western Powers would withdraw their currency from Berlin, leaving only Soviet zone currency control.

Western power spokesmen did not comment on whether this might represent a retreat from their position. Soviet demands made at the Berlin talks were announced on which the talks broke down. The Russians in Berlin demanded the right to control air traffic to Berlin as part of the currency control.

An informed source said the Russian reply put the situation back where it was when the mediation efforts began. The neutrals—Argentina, Canada, Belgium, Colombia, Syria and China—reportedly had proposed lifting of the blockade simultaneously with the calling of a four-power foreign ministers council meeting on Germany.

The United States, Britain and France, holding the blockade a menace to world peace and within the province of the security council, have contended that it must be lifted before a foreign ministers meeting can be convened.

Forecast of Drop in Prices Premature

By OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Government forecasts of a boost in meat supplies and lower prices by late 1949 may be over-optimistic.

Made chiefly by the Agriculture department, these predictions have been based largely on the fact that, at the moment, the relationship between feed prices and livestock prices is very favorable for producing meat animals.

This year's record grain crop has pulled down costs of feed, while livestock prices have remained relatively high.

But reports from the corn belt, where the bulk of the nation's meat supply comes from, indicate that farmers are not jumping in to expand livestock production as much as the department had expected.

These reports say many farmers fear that prices may drop sharply by the time new meat animals can be produced fattened and marketed.

This view was expressed by Carl C. Malone, Iowa State College economist, before an Agriculture department farm outlook conference here this week. He was supported by several economists from other Western corn belt states.

Malone, somewhat to the surprise of department officials, said he does not believe farmers will meet the government's goal of a 5,000,000 head increase in livestock. Such a goal must be met if there is to be a big jump in pork supplies next year. It compares with this year's spring crop of 51,000,000.

Malone said many farmers in Iowa, the major corn-hog state, prefer to put their corn under government price support loans and thereby escape any risk that might be involved in feeding the grain to livestock.

Another department official reported similar skepticism among corn belt cattle feeders in a report yesterday. It said the volume of beef cattle to be fed in the corn belt this winter may not be greatly different from a year ago because of a "cautious attitude among farmers and financing agencies."

The "uncertainty of future prices" of beef cattle was said to be the main factor back of this cautiousness.

This farmer uneasiness also has been expressed in heavy October marketings of hogs. The recent drop in feed prices had been expected to lead farmers to hold hogs for fattening to heavy weights. But the reverse has been the case.

Methodists Hold Quarterly Conference

Last night, the quarterly conference of the Methodist church was held at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Van W. Harrell was in charge. Reports were heard from all departments of the church. Albert Graves reported a very healthy condition in the church school. Mrs. H. O. Kjer, president of the Board of Christian Education, gave a report on the activities of this board. Mrs. R. L. Broach reported for the Woman's Society of Christian service, giving a resume of the year's work. Mrs. L. B. Tooley was elected to be president of the Woman's Society for the ensuing year.

Miss Kathleen Egan reported for the Children's Division of the Church School, and Roy Anderson for the Adult Division. Mrs. J. W. Perkins, Lydia Foster, and Mary Frances Pate were elected to the Board of Education. The following officers were added to the Board of Stewards: William Rounton, E. P. Young, Jr., William Bain, and Edward Lester.

The organization of the Board of Stewards for the ensuing year is as follows: Roy Anderson, Chairman; James H. Jones, vice-president and chairman of the Finance Committee; Clifford Bridges, Secretary; and Kenneth Hamilton, Treasurer.

Lucky Dog

Dickie is one dog who believes in radio give-away programs. He was left in England when his mistress came here, but his aptitude was too big and he was to be killed. Out of funds to send for him, Mrs. Helen Smith of Bridgeport, Conn., won a $250 radio prize and used it as Dickie's passage money.

Next Congress Must Vote Aid to Europe

Washington, Oct. 14 (UP)—Regardless of the outcome of the November elections, the next Congress faces the prospect of acting on a record-breaking foreign aid program of over $3,000,000,000, a United Press survey disclosed today.

The estimate, compiled from official sources, compares with about $7,000,000,000 authorized by the 80th Congress for economic and military aid through June 30, 1949. Recipients are western Europe, Trieste, Austria, Greece, Turkey, China, Japan and Korea.

The biggest single amount next year will be over $4,000,000,000 for the second year of the European Recovery Program. Then there are expected to be requests totaling $1,500,000,000 or more for rebuilding western Europe as this country's first line of defense. And more aid is in the works for China, Japan and Korea because of Communist threats in Asia.

Budget bureau officials said the outcome of next month's elections will not change the foreign aid plan now being developed. By law, President Truman is required to submit the new budget requests soon after Congress meets on Jan. 3. Should Gov. Thomas E. Dewey be elected, he would not take over until Jan. 20. However, foreign aid requests presumably would not be altered materially in event a new Congress took office because of the bipartisan foreign policy.

ITU Ruled in Contempt of Court by Judge

Indianapolis, Oct. 14 (AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today ruled that the International Typographical Union is in contempt of court because it has insisted on a closed shop in its contracts with newspapers.

The judge, who issued an injunction against the union last March 27, did not penalize the union, but ordered it to prove within 10 days that it is abiding by his injunction, based on the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

Counsel for the National Labor Relations Board has asked the contempt citation, charging that the union had continued to insist on a closed shop, had discriminated against non-union men in hiring, and had supported strikes against newspapers in violation of the injunction.

The union had insisted it was negotiating with employers in good faith. Judge Swygert ruled it had "deliberately attempted since the issuance of the injunction" to continue closed shop conditions in the newspaper industry.

Truman Urged to Reveal 'Moscow Plan'

Washington, Oct. 14 (UP)—President Truman is being urged by some advisers to give the public a fuller explanation of the "Moscow plan," which was learned today.

These advisers, it was understood, feel Mr. Truman has been unfairly criticized for considering the plan. They want him to devote some future speech to giving his side of the story in view of the sharp indirect criticism from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and other Republicans.

Mr. Truman has given these advisers no final answer. But in an attack on Dewey's foreign policy record last night, he made it clear that he would not hesitate to bring vital issues before the people if necessary "to correct distortions and keep the record straight."

If Mr. Truman does devote a speech to the Moscow project, he is expected to follow the lines of his statement of last Saturday. It was then that he confirmed he had considered sending Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to meet with Premier Stalin, but that he abandoned the idea on the advice of Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

In his statement, Mr. Truman said the idea stemmed from his "great desire to see peace firmly established" and his feeling that "we would be remiss if we left undone anything" that might help relations with Russia.

Dewey's advisers have termed the project a blunder that would have ill effects on the United Nations. And Dewey himself accused the administration of "clumsiness" and failure to consult with the GOP on sudden, vital moves in foreign affairs.

Mr. Truman's aides take the position that since the Vinson mission never got beyond the idea stage, there was no reason to consult with the Republicans on it.

Aid Pledged to Local Channel Projects

Prescott—(Special)—Representatives from 5 counties advanced a project to straighten the channels of Ozan Creek and the Little Missouri River at a meeting this morning in Nevada County Courthouse at Prescott with four engineers from Vicksburg, Mississippi, flood control headquarters from this section.

The engineers got assurance of backing from each county judge in the area affected and about 35 landowners from Clark, Hempstead, Nevada, Ouachita and Pike counties pledged full cooperation. Petitions are being circulated in each county giving engineers the go-ahead sign and promising right-of-ways and maintenance by landowners.

The project already has been surveyed and approved by engineers. Expenditure of between $50,000 and $80,000 is planned on Ozan Creek and from $50,000 to $600,000 on Little Missouri river.

Strikers Return Relieving French Situation

Paris, Oct. 14 (UP)—More than 9,000 steel workers in Lorraine agreed today to return to their jobs, ending a three-week walkout and bringing a major break in the nationwide French strikes.

There also were signs the railroad walkout was softening. But no settlement of the 11-day strike of 350,000 coal miners was in sight.

An agreement signed by management of the steel plants in Northeast France, scene of bigger rioting a week ago, granted the workers a 10 per cent wage increase and other benefits, including free coal for their homes. They will return to work tomorrow.

As the government cracked down on food speculation to lower prices and soften labor's wage demands, it was known to be quietly working on a possible settlement for the miners, including wage increases and a greater family benefits.

An estimated 50 black market leaders dealing in meat, cheese, wine and groceries were jailed in Paris. Some prison and other jails. Andre Marie, Minister of Justice, promised the government would "prosecute to the hilt" the black market dealers responsible for daily increases in the most important items in the workers' budgets.

Yvon Coude Du Foresto, minister of Economic Affairs, told a press conference the sugar ration would be increased to one kilogram (2 pounds 3 ounces) per month starting in November. The rationing of meat was cut 20 per cent in the price of wine.

Belgium Reds Told to Fight French Rule

Brussels, Oct. 14 (UP)—The Belgian Communist party has been ordered by the Cominform to overthrow the Premier, Paul-Henri Spaak's coalition government, a high counter-intelligence source said today.

The informant said the central committee of the Belgian Communist party had been told a few days ago that orders had arrived from the Communist information bureau to "start agitating for higher wages."

He said his organization had "irrefutable proof" the move was linked closely with similar movements in France and Italy.

"We have the situation well in hand however," he said, "and if the Communists comply and engage in large-scale subversive activity they are in for trouble—serious trouble," the counter-intelligence officer said.

Two days ago Edgar Lalmand, secretary general of the Communist party, advocated the overthrow of the Spaak government as a "cure-all for Belgium's economic trouble."

He denounced Spaak as "nothing but a puppet and slave" of big American masters in Washington. The bespectacled, haggard-looking secretary said:

"We have now reached the crucial juncture and we must choose between the Soviet Union and the United States.

"The terms and munitions the Americans propose sending to Europe will eventually be turned against them.

"If America declares war on Russia, which seems to be its ultimate aim, we will not fight to save its cheap capitalist regime but we will strive to uphold the Soviet Union and all it stands for. Yes, comrades, fight if necessary."

The Belgian Communist party mustered some 100,000 votes at the last general election in 1945. Spaak has a Brussels speech scheduled for next Wednesday on the "United Nations."

Commenting on it, Lalmand said:

"We will show the man who is still prime minister of this country just how strong we are. We will turn up for Spaak's address."

The counter-intelligence informant said "everything seems to indicate the Communists mean trouble."

"But we are not worried," he added, "if they want trouble, they'll get it."

Asked how Communists planned to overthrow the government, the informant said:

"We know and have taken necessary precautionary measures. That is all I can say."

$35,000 Loss in Fire at Jonesboro

Jonesboro, Oct. 14 (AP)—Losses from a fire which destroyed one of Jonesboro's oldest apartment buildings may exceed the $35,000 mark.

The fire swept through the Anderson flats, a two-story frame structure, yesterday, forcing occupants to flee before they had a chance to save their belongings.

The flames damaged several adjacent buildings. Several firemen were overcome by smoke and one was hospitalized because of blistered face and hands.

Constructed in 1939, the building was converted from a house to apartment in 1939.

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to Seville from the countryside of Navarre. He comes enamored of the beautiful Carmen, a girl who is in love with her superior officer, who feels he has a claim on Carmen. Angry and jealous, the older man draws his sword on Jose. The fight is unequal for Carmen, seizing her opportunity, trips the colonel and he falls, spitted on Jose's sword. Hiding out in the mountains with Carmen, Jose can't seem to grasp the fact that he's a deserter and a murderer. The clatter of horses' hoofs heralds the approach of others. Carmen listens warily.

XVI Pablo and Remondado, bundled in serapes against the mountain cold, were first to come into the circle of the fire. They stopped short as they saw Carmen and Don Jose.

Don Jose's arm dropped from across Carmen's shoulders and she moved slightly, to stand in front of him in an almost protective gesture. Her voice was sharp.

"This is Jose, a strong, healthy addition to our company. You will find him very valuable. He was a soldier."

She turned to Jose and said, "This one is Pablo, who is good in a fight but don't ever turn your back on him. And this one is Remondado. He's stupid but he's not a bad fellow."

She crossed to the stewpot, keeping up a steady flow of chatter. Don Jose, conscious of the steady, suspicious regard of the two men followed her. Carmen started to dish the stew into bowls. "He killed the colonel in a sword fight. Ran him through as neatly as a pig on a spit. He's a deserter and a murderer."

As she said this she looked up and let her eyes meet those of the two gypsy men defiantly. "So I said he could join us."

There was utter silence. No one moved or spoke. Then Remondado, the good-natured one, grinned and the awkwardness was broken. Carmen relaxed and leaned over the stewpot again. Remondado went to the fire and, reaching the bare from the spit with a stick, picked it up, juggling it from one hand to the other to keep from burning himself.

Pablo, the surly one, still had not moved and Carmen kept one eye warily on him as she la-

Man Dies Trying to Show Off Windpipe

Dubois, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—John Bernatowicz, 59, enjoyed the attention the surgical tube in his throat aroused. He took it out to show friends today, then found he couldn't replace it. Deputy Coroner F. I. Gillum said the man died of suffocation.

But times have changed. If you will look the situation squarely in the face, you will see that the old order, for better or worse as it may turn out, has been swept away by many other civilizations have, and that we will have to adapt ourselves to the new regime.

Take marriage, for instance, on which more than any one thing our happiness, or misery, depends. We are sold to the love-dovey theory of marriage and always picture the bride floating around her vine-wreathed cottage in pink chiffons that never wear out, and the husband as being the perpetual lover. And we think of the ideal wife as being perfectly happy in her own home and never wanting to step out. We think that every woman's career should be bounded by her kitchen and nursery, and we pity the poor henpecked man who helps his wife wash the dishes.

DOROTHY DIX New Life Pattern

Undoubtedly the reason why there is such an increase in divorce and in the number of delinquent children is because we are going through a domestic revolution. The customs of centuries have been scrapped. Old beliefs have been thrown into the discard. The attitude of parents and children toward husbands and wives—towards each other has been changed and the whole pattern of our lives has been altered.

Although we pride ourselves upon being a forward-looking people we have not been prophets enough to foresee this upsetting of all of our old ways, and it has left us confused and bewildered, not knowing how to meet the situation, or how to adjust ourselves to it.

We still are bound to our idols and pine for the good old days—days when we lived in big houses with plenty of elbow room, instead of being crowded into little flats where we can't move without stepping on somebody's toes; when people married for keeps; children were obedient; the wife was a place where families gathered for a pleasant evening together, instead of its being a dressing station into which we pop to change our clothes before starting out for a good time.

Adapt Ourselves But times have changed. If you will look the situation squarely in the face, you will see that the old order, for better or worse as it may turn out, has been swept away by many other civilizations have, and that we will have to adapt ourselves to the new regime.

Negro Enrolls at Oklahoma University

Norman, Okla., Oct. 13 — (AP) — G. W. McLaurin, retired Negro professor, started through enrollment procedure at the University of Oklahoma today.

It was the first time in the history of the 56-year-old school that a Negro's enrollment had been accepted.

McLaurin's admission followed a university board of regents decision Sunday to end complete racial segregation.

The Negro is seeking a doctor of education degree.

The regents took action after a federal court in Oklahoma City had said that Oklahoma segregation laws—as they applied to McLaurin—were unconstitutional.

Oklahoma's only college for Negroes, Langston University, offers no graduate work.

McLaurin arrived at the university at 10:50 a.m. and went first to the office of President George L. Cross. Later he went to the graduate school office where Dr. Laurence Snyder, dean, started his enrollment procedure.

The university was instructed by the regents to maintain segregation in the classrooms. How that instruction would be carried out has still not been disclosed.

The nationwide group of 19 newspapers, which also backed Dewey in the 1944 campaign, said in an editorial:

"The crucial issue of this campaign is whether competence, wisdom, understanding of basic issues and teamwork under firm and skillful leadership shall guide our truly United States in the conduct of foreign and domestic affairs during the next four critical years."

"We believe the better hope is offered by Governor Dewey and Governor Warren."

"President Truman," the editorial said, "is a good man, a good American, a man of high moral fortune, not his fault, that experience and training had not prepared him for the crushing responsibilities that fell upon him."

"We give him full credit for doing his best, under extraordinary difficulties. But great, perhaps greater difficulties are still ahead. Mr. Truman's best — and we say it with regret — seems to us not good enough for the next four years."

Reds Working for Ill Will Between Americas

New York, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said last night that Communist "fifth columns" are working constantly for all-will between this country and our South American neighbors.

Mr. Hoover spoke at a dinner of the American Foundation, where he received the Americas award for his "contribution to hemispheric amity and understanding."

The foundation promotes exchange scholarships between North and South America.

"Nowadays," Mr. Hoover said, "Communist fifth columns in every country systematically and incessantly by conspiracy and by subsidized press and radio, excite fear."

General Policy Toward Smashing German War Machine Slightly Changed in 3 Years

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Back in the late war — the second world conflict started by Germany in a generation — the Allies swore a mighty oath they would so thoroughly smash the Reich that never again would it be able to wage aggression.

Naturally destruction of the German war potential involved the wiping out of all arsenals and factories capable of material contribution to armaments. Many of these factories were destroyed by bombing, and those which survived were dismantled and removed as reparations.

It wasn't foreseen, of course, that the conflict was going to be followed by another struggle among the Allies themselves — the "cold war" which shortly grew out of Communist aggression. So in the flush of victory over Hitlerism the Allies made agreements which not only emasculated Germany's military potential but cut heavily into the ordinary industrial potential.

When the Bolshevik drive against Western Europe got into full swing it became apparent that defense depended on economic recovery of the war-stricken countries. The corollary to this was the Marshall Plan for rehabilitation. This plan has become the target of the Bolsheviks. Their offensive is aimed at preventing the program from succeeding and so rendering Western Europe incapable of defending itself.

Along with this development has come a far more widespread realization that before the World War Germany was one of the keystones of European economy. It is clear and ill will against us."

"Nor have we been without fault," he added.

"In two periods we have interfered with the internal affairs of these independent sovereignties."

"Thirty years ago we undertook, in two countries, to restore order by the use of troops. Unfortunately in the past five years, some officials in our state department have regrettably interfered in internal elections."

Against this, he said, "there is the long record of 170 years devotion to the independence of, and service to, our neighbors."

that general rehabilitation depends heavily on German recovery.

This is a very disturbing thought for countries like France, Britain and Belgium, which twice have stood the brunt of the Reich's initial onslaughts. Unhappy France in particular has been fearful of putting the Germans on their feet again industrially.

However, a remarkable and vastly important change has come about very recently in the viewpoint of the Western European countries. And yesterday it appeared that both France and Britain were prepared to halt the dismantling of important German plants pending a review of the part which the Reich can play in European economic recovery.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman came out in support of this procedure. That was 24 hours after he had talked with Paul Hoffman, U. S. administrator for the European Recovery Program. Meanwhile Hoffman had gone to London for a conference with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who also is said to have agreed reluctantly to the proposal.

Now this doesn't necessarily mean that there will be any alteration in the German reparations program as originally laid down. A review may not change the situation. Still, the mere fact that the Western Allies appear prepared to reconsider the whole German situation is in itself a momentous development.

It isn't going too far, I believe, to say that world peace will depend heavily on how this problem is handled. The Western democracies may find it possible to meet Moscow's threat by putting Germany on its feet — always, of course, with proper safeguards against the re-creation of a strong war potential in the Reich.

Never Grew It
Indians in the region of the Great Lakes collected and ate the wild rice that grew there, but never planted it, believing that if they did, no more would grow wild.

Unlike whitetail deer, elk are gregarious and migrate in large herds. They are curious animals and will approach any strange, motionless object.

Truman Gives Own Opinion of Opponent

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Oct. 14 — (AP) — President Truman cut a political war path through Minnesota and Wisconsin today, forming his opponent a man lacking "integrity" and "risk at a time of world crisis."

He took off the gloves last night at St. Paul with a description of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as a maker of "mealy mouthed political speeches" and a user of empty "catch phrases" like "unity" and "efficiency."

And, in a speech sprinkled with New Deal phrases, he declared that the Republicans had changed Senator Joseph H. Ball from a fighter "on the people's side" to one of the "champions of reaction."

He called for the election of Humphrey to Ball's Senate seat as a "fighting liberal," and diagnosed Ball's alleged change as a "dose of Potomac fever."

Mr. Truman will climax a heavy day of speechmaking today with a major address at 8:40 p. m. (CST) in the ball park at Milwaukee.

His schedule started with a rear platform talk at Milwaukee at 4 a. m. (CST) and similar off the cuff addresses at Rochester, 10:15 a. m., and Winona, 11:35 a. m. before moving into Sparta, Wis. for a speech at 12:35 p. m.

At Madison, the Wisconsin capital, the president leaves his train at 3:45 p. m. (CST) for a drive to the Bruce Stevens Stadium and another speech. Carl Thompson, Democratic candidate for governor, will introduce him. Then there will be a platform address at Wausha before the president's campaign train pulls into Milwaukee at 7:45 p. m. for a four hour program.

In his St. Paul rally, one of the sharpest talks of his campaign, the president invited all liberals to fight with him for "the right kind of unity" under Democrats.

While he didn't call Governor Dewey's name, he linked him with "recent converts" to a bi-partisan foreign policy he said were preaching "me too, but I can do it better."

An audience which overflowed the 3,600-seat hall whooped it up in approval as he declared the GOP liked the government so well they wanted to "buy it."

He pressed foreign policy directly into the campaign, asserting Gov. Dewey supplied no unity on that front as late as 1944. Mr. Truman said Republican leaders were "mainly isolationist" in 1940 with "half the world in flames."

"I call on all liberals and progressives to stand up and be counted for democracy in the great battle," the president said. The crowd howled its approval.

"I call on the old Farmer-Labor party, the old Wisconsin Progressives, the old Non-Partisan League, and the New Dealers to stand up and be counted," he said.

The president said Gov. Dewey in 1940 said production of 50,000 airplanes a year was "fantastic" and the nation produced 100,000.

"He had so little foresight about post-war problems," Mr. Truman continued, "that he told me we could completely demobilize our military strength the minute that hostilities ceased."

"Here again, as in so many other cases, Mr. Truman continued, the American people should consider the risk of entrusting the destiny to recent converts who now come along and say 'me too, but I can do it better.'"

Fair Enough

Washington, Oct. 12 — The sudden zeal of the Department of Justice to "investigate" Congressman Parnell Thomas, the chairman of the committee on un-American activities, with an insubstantial announcement that he is being "investigated" brings from our Bostonian on such a sad and true fact when any one from Harvard is charged with questionable association. Being named a "fugitive" in the State Department and "investigated" by the Federal Bureau of Investigation are not to be denied. Mr. Thomas is not one of those sensitive cases calling for extraordinary nobility and restraint.

The Department of Justice has grown more and more reminiscent of the Harding regime, and we find a nostalgic reference of that stout crew of patriots, the Ohio gang. The New Deal must have been honing us in the blackguard pamphlets and orations which held Harry M. Daugherty up to scorn, for the same department has been used for similar purposes as often as not since 1933. And no isolated justice has been stylish under the rule of the Harvard gang ever since the second Louisiana Purchase.

Important cases have been selected for prosecution or adjustment, according to sensitive factors undefined by any law, after earnest consultations by and among the various departments. The exact meaning of "policy" is still a fugitive from our political scientists, but the best speculative try that one may hear from frequenters of this mysterious memorial to the standard of government is that "policy" and "politics" have much in common.

Even when a decision is made to put up a show of prosecution against some felonious ally of the party in power, the job may be increased by getting reliable material to guarantee that the accused accomplice will get away. The Louisiana cases were mere dry runs in preparation for the Kansas City jobs. The mailings of the Blue Bird and the atrocities in which all the preferences got magnificent discounts in return for many personal and political generalities, confirmed the new concept. And the Joe Fay and Ben Rossbach in Newark, both involving the party of humanity, have been languishing.

The Fay case is the most notorious failure of justice in the record of the department since the Grant administration. Fay was a brutal, defiant thug of the Roosevelt era. He stole not only from the Treasury but he robbed the Treasury by his leasing public construction for his own lashing and wealth and by cheating on his income tax on this lot.

Tom Clark, the last of the New Deal parade of attorney's general, was personally well familiar with Fay's nefarious doings, having carried on some prosecutions of Fay's subordinates in 1936.

In December, 1946, I observed that Fay was about to go to trial in Newark on the tax evasion charge and that his judge was to be a member of the famous political mob who did well for himself in counsel in the sorting of the week-end of the banks of Jersey City, brought to collapse by ruinous and predatory local home taxation.

This assignment, because of the common political associations of the judge and the defendant and of the United States attorney as well — one Edgar Rossbach.

I was absolutely right. Fay and Meany had been involved for years in the councils and fortunes of a political gang which preyed on the people, the industry, the banks and the moral stamina of the community.

Nevertheless, Mr. Clark said he wasn't worried about Meany but said "we" had had "a lot of trouble" with Rossbach.

And still newer dangers, Clark let Rossbach handle the case, an on-and-off job which, he said, had been won by Frank S. Hogan and Vincent O'Connor in New York county on an extortion charge in the same evidence. Rossbach indicted it around a badly broken first-class jury would have had to acquit. When it was all over and Fay, of course, had been acquitted, as it was a foregone conclusion that he would be when I talked to Clark, Mr. Clark indignantly cried that he thought the acquitted had been a "damned outrage." That was a conservative estimate.

There were connections as of an "investigation" as it came to nothing until last spring. Then, finally, Rossbach, having been left in office notwithstanding all past performances, was charged with trying to bribe another Federal officer to let a case on a crack. Of course, he denied it.

This area of New Jersey is a bad land of privileged crime under license or tolerance by the political mob which sent Meany and Rossbach to the courts. The average trial juror and grand juror are suspect, so much because of the personal had chance for individuals as because of the corruption of the system. The judicial system like a cancer, it is said, has spread into banks, courts and even areas of religious influence. The important thing to know about a grand jury that who has been investigated. Who, he said, "When a grand jury is investigated, it is a good thing to find a defect in the grand jury's history and then by some of the grand jury members who are accepted during the investigation of the grand jury." That was a statement of the Department of Justice has no right to investigate "investigation" involving any citizen's reputation. The thing for the Department of Justice to do is to make charges or shut up and let the citizen's reputation alone.

That statement of Thomas is a "red herring," as Truman would put it, to draw attention from the department's own scandalous failures, including the present neglect and postponement of the Rossbach case until election day, and from Truman's own solicitude for accused lawbreakers of the United States and likely suspects.

Rickert to Share in World Series Money

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14. — (UP) — Outfielder Marty Rickert who filed in for the injured Jeff Heath for the Draves in the World Series, will receive a share of the series money. Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler promised today.

Chandler to give Rickert the money, since the outfielder did not join the team until after the players had voted on the division of shares.

This was the second special accounting taken by the commission in regard to Rickert, the first giving him permission to play in the series. It will be up to Chandler just how much Rickert will receive.

Bobcat, Porker Game to Draw Huge Crowd

All signs point to the toughest struggle of the year here tomorrow night when the undefeated Hope Bobcats tangle with Texarkana's Razorbacks at Hammond Stadium in a contest that "counts" in District 7-A play.

Although the Porker mentor is moaning the blues over injuries, Coach Tollett of the Bobcats is leary, knowing the visitors have a big squad that is capable of doing his mind. Coach Frank Mosley of Texarkana places three of his starting men on the injured list but none are hurt enough to keep them out of the game Friday night.

The Hope boys are bruised a bit themselves and loss of Captain S. A. Westbrook will be sorely felt against the visitors who boast one of the biggest and best lines in Arkansas.

The Porkers are being put through a series of plays designed to break the Bobcats' mainstay, the Hope offense. No team so far has been able to gain with much success through the Razorback line. And the Bobcats must depend on rushing as their passing attack has failed to click in every game thus far.

Also the visitors are smarting from three straight defeats and Hope doesn't need something to fall on them to make them realize Texas is out after a win. It was much the same for the Bobcats, and at the end of the contest Texarkana had 13 points to 7 for Hope.

The game Friday night is the first of five, all of which will be just about as tough as the other. In a row the Bobcats meet Texarkana, Camden, Hot Springs, Little Rock and Smackover. Such a schedule is almost suicide.

Backing their team to the limit the High School band and Porker fans are chartering special buses to bring them to Hope. One of the largest crowds of the season will be on hand.

Little Rock, Oct. 14 — (UP) — The Big Six high school football conference, already mistreated by Double A schools this year, gets another dose of that brand of competition this week-end.

With the exception of Little Rock and Fort Smith, who tangle in a full that will have to be a conference leadership, all teams in the Triple A division of the Arkansas Athletic Association conference play Double A foes this week.

Little Rock, which had its 34 game undefeated record ruined by Double A Blytheville, won its only conference contest and is tied with North Little Rock and Pine Bluff for the loop leadership.

Fort Smith's Grizzlies rolled up two conference victories before bowing to Pine Bluff. A victory for Little Rock in the game here Friday night would give the Tigers a undisputed possession of first place, but a win for the Grizzlies would drop the Tigers into fourth place, just back of Fort Smith.

Pine Bluff, only undefeated Big Six member, plays Double A Camden, the only team to shade North Little Rock this year. North Little Rock goes to Russellville to pay the rugged District Four AA Cyclones.

Hot Springs meets Fordyce, and El Dorado plays Smackover. Other high school games on the program include:

Fayetteville at Van Buren; Camden at Blytheville, and Texarkana at Hope in district Double A competition; and

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh & Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Oct. 14 — (UP) — Casey Stengel's first official act as manager of the Yankees was to attend the weekly luncheon of the football Yankees yesterday. . . . At that, he might do worse than sign up Bud's Young as a pinch runner. . . . Milkman Jim Turner, Casey's first choice as a coach, was so well-regarded as a minor league manager that when the Reds released Johnny Neum, Scout Pat Patterson telephoned all the way from California to recommend Jim as a successor.

Boston Brass to Be Around Next Year

Boston, Oct. 14 — (UP) — It's almost a cliché that Boston Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey, Vice President Eddie Collins, General Manager Joe Cronin, and Manager Joe McCarthy will be around next season. But bet on anyone else except possibly some of the better players.

Yawkey couldn't hide his disappointment over losing the American League pennant, and much of the blame is being passed around to Sox and farm officials. The shakeup in the Sox organization which began before the club was beaten out in an unprecedented playoff appears likely to continue.

Three members of the organization are gone and the Sox, rejecting all questions, indicate the three resigned. "The three disagree and say, in effect, 'we didn't jump, we were pushed.'"

Latest to go is Del Baker, veteran coach and longtime Detroit Tiger manager, who will be replaced by Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, erstwhile star National League outfielder and more recently a Southern Association manager. Cuyler played under McCarthy when the latter managed the Chicago Cubs.

The Sox, of course, reporting the change, said Baker had resigned. At his San Antonio, Tex., home Baker retorted he had been dismissed in a telephone conversation with Cronin.

breaks the Arkansas-Oklahoma pattern with a trip to Cleveland, Miss., to meet Delta State Saturday. Coach Chas. H. Hays opens the competition with Oklahoma teams against East Central State in Ada, Okla., tonight.

Friday, the Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys go to Edmond, Okla., to play Central State College, and Little Rock Junior goes to Miami, Okla., to play Northwestern Oklahoma A and M.

Northwestern State Teachers of Tanglewood, Okla., invade Arkansas to meet College of the Ozarks at Clarksville.

Her Springs meets Fordyce, and El Dorado plays Smackover. Other high school games on the program include:

Fayetteville at Van Buren; Camden at Blytheville, and Texarkana at Hope in district Double A competition; and

Most of AIC Play Foes Out of Arkansas
By The Associated Press
With just three exceptions, the Arkansas Intercollegiate conference football program this week is an all Arkansas-Oklahoma affair. Only two conference contests are scheduled, Arkansas State Teachers, currently tied with Arkansas Tech for the loop lead, plays the Henderson State Teachers College Reddies in Arkadelphia, and Henderson plays Arkansas A and M at Monticello Saturday night.

All other teams have interschool games. Arkansas College coaches are busy with their own school work, and many of them are busy with their own school work, and many of them are busy with their own school work.

That's a statement of the Department of Justice has no right to investigate "investigation" involving any citizen's reputation. The thing for the Department of Justice to do is to make charges or shut up and let the citizen's reputation alone.

That statement of Thomas is a "red herring," as Truman would put it, to draw attention from the department's own scandalous failures, including the present neglect and postponement of the Rossbach case until election day, and from Truman's own solicitude for accused lawbreakers of the United States and likely suspects.

Hendrix End Named Player of the Week

By The Associated Press
Troy Bledsoe, left end for Hendrix, is the Associated Press "Star of the Week" in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference. He was chosen by a vote of coaches for his outstanding defensive play in the Hendrix-Henderson game last week. The Henderson Reddies defeated Hendrix 17-13.

Yerger Prepares for Clash With Pine Bluff

Yerger High School Tigers went through a long workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their important conference clash with Merrell High School of Pine Bluff that will be played in Pine Bluff, Friday night at 8 p.m.

The Tigers according to Coach Brooks will be in top shape for the contest and will use a wide open offense for the first time this year.

Halfback Jack Simpson were named high in the outstanding play during the week.

The order specifically directs the

1. Not to encourage local unions in demands for a contract which would discriminate against non-union employees by setting certain standards of competency for them and none for union members;

2. Not to instruct local unions to demand that the "form contract" be signed by employers;

3. Not to support strikes, slowdowns and work control in disputes brought about because the union has violated the March 27 injunction.

4. To notify all locals that the union is in contempt of court and that the international cannot support any local that insists on contract terms violating the terms of the injunction, insisting on the "form contract" and discrimination against non-union members.

Today's ruling was expected to have widespread effect throughout the newspaper industry and will clear the way for further negotiation of the year-old strike in Chicago.

The judge's contempt ruling today likely will be tested in higher court and by agreement may go directly to the United States Supreme Court.

This ITU case was the subject of a sharp exchange between President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) last month.

The president had written that the union had "put the heat" on the NLRB counsel to bring the contempt suit, which the judge refused today to dismiss.

This charge was denied by the NLRB counsel and Taft said Truman's statement was "merely an attempt to curry favor with the labor bosses who control the labor publicity to which he is looking for help in the election."

The suit started last Jan. 16 when the NLRB asked for the injunction, charging that the union had violated the Taft-Hartley law in Chicago and various other cities.

Dewey Carries Campaign to Missouri

En route with Dewey to Kansas City, Oct. 14 —(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey called today for "teamwork" between Congress and the White House to "tagline" the big job we have before us.

Heading for Kansas City and a major speech on good government there tonight, the Republican presidential nominee told a Joplin crowd, "we must have an administration that will work with Congress—that wants to work with Congress."

Dewey said this country must "establish a foreign policy so clear that everybody—both the free world and the slave world—will know where we stand. They must know that we stand firmly for peace, that we are not going to wobble, wobble, and wiggle."

Introduced by Rep. Short (R-Mo) Dewey told his listeners he hopes they "never lose the habit of sending Short back to Congress" assistant Police Chief Walter Fleener estimated 3,000 persons were in the crowd.

Announcing the topic of the talk, Paul Lockwood, the New York governor's secretary, said Dewey would "promise to bring to Washington a government that believes wholeheartedly in the American system of freedom; that knows where it is going; that practices teamwork that has integrity; that is competent, and that has vision, faith and courage."

This large order seemed unlikely to prevent Dewey from alluding directly to President Truman's connection with the Kansas City Penitentiary organization.

In an area embracing the district where Mr. Truman purged a democratic congressional candidate in 1946 only to have his choice lost to a Republican, the New York governor was expected to bear down on ballot box integrity.

Senator Kern (R-Mo) tried unsuccessfully for months to win a congressional investigation of Attorney General Clark's handling of the Kansas City vote fraud.

In the 1946 Democratic race President Truman backed Enos A. Axtell over incumbent Rep. Roger Slaughter in the Fifth Missouri Congressional district. Axtell won the nomination but lost to Republican Albert Reeves, Jr., in the general election.

Dewey scheduled Missouri stops at Joplin, Carthage, Moberly and Springfield before his late afternoon arrival in Kansas City. There was no final decision whether his train would pause at Fort Scott, Kas.

The GOP nominee's interest in Missouri primarily was in attempting to wrest the president's home state from him.

He spent the day in Oklahoma yesterday, however, largely on a mission that even some of his friends thought that was futile—an attempt to elect Rep. Ross Rizley, Republican, as the next senator from Oklahoma.

The 51 to 43 margin the Republicans now hold in the Senate looks so shaky in this year's balloting that Dewey made 12 speeches—something of a record for him—in Oklahoma.

The consensus of local politicians was that while Dewey has some chance to carry Oklahoma, his margin would have to be larger woman in charge of the children's camp who announced:

"You'll have to take care of a group of little girls," she told us. "Are there no nursemaids here?" I asked "no," was the blunt answer.

I protested that I was a specialist in natural science, that I had planned to conduct seminars in nature study for my students, and start collections of plants and insects.

"No, no," the manager retorted, "forget your plans. We have quite a few tots to take care of, and that's what we brought you here for."

The room in the impressive mansion which I was to share with another teacher would have been ideal for rest. But adjoining it were two dormitory rooms in which 14 little girls were quartered. These were our wards, and the two of us had to serve both as nursemaids and chambermaids to them, from washing their hair to cleaning their bedrooms.

The mothers of the little girls were having the time of their lives, coming and going, and disappearing themselves on the beach where another luxurious house in the neighborhood had been rented by the Soviet authorities to accommodate all the staffs. I had occasion to tell these mothers what I thought of them:

"You idling aristocrats, you should be ashamed to turn us teachers into nursemaids for your children!" I told them to their faces.

We were warned to stay on the grounds which, to be sure, were ample enough. "It's best not to go outside the boundaries," was the unmistakable hint given us. My observations mortified me.

The famous flower gardens were of neglect, the vegetable gardens were unwatered and untended. Poison ivy was spreading everywhere. Wherever I went for a walk I came upon empty bottles, dirty cartons and boxes. Garbage littered the grounds.

With dismay I asked myself: "How can our government send such people to represent Russia abroad? And why is it that our top diplomats, from Gromyko down, who spend their week-ends here, tolerate such a disgrace?"

Soon enough the American press discovered the scandalous state of affairs within our domain. Neighbors complained of the pollution of nearby waters and of the nudist bathing. One of our teachers a fat woman came running to me full of excitement. She had been at the beach, the press photographers had descended upon it, and she bragged: "You'll see my picture will be in the papers to-morrow."

The papers made the most of another picture, showing an attractive girl from the Amtorg who had been snapped by the photographers in Eve's costume. There were immediate repercussions. The girl lost her job in America and was hustled back to Soviet Russia within a matter of days.

A public scandal is something which the uncouth Soviet aristocracy cannot abide. The president of the Amtorg himself was recalled, we heard, because of the incident.

There was no help in my little Soviet America to look after the small children and no attendants to take care of the grounds, but of spies and watchdogs there was no shortage. When I sneaked out with another teacher to go shopping in the village five-and-ten-cent store, she looked around, and hurried me. "Poskoroyedimye! quick!" At the estate itself, when I retired for an evening of work on my specimens, I would find young Communist stalwarts snooping around.

This perennial vigilance, however, did not extend to theft. I was warned upon my arrival at Glen Cove by one of the teachers not to keep more than a few dollars about me. We had no key for the door of our room. Daily there was an uproar about missing valuables, now it was a wristwatch, now it was cash which had been stolen. Everybody was suspicious of all the others. I rebelled at the indignity of our status, for teachers were looked down upon as an inferior caste.

But at our 7th Street school, in New York I was plagued with the same vice. There were so many cases in my classes of money and things vanishing from coat pockets and purses that I determined to root out the evil. Several of the students who had become attached to me joined me in a plan to trap the thief. One of the boys hid inside the fireplace when everybody went out for recess. Sure enough, the thief appeared and was caught in the net. She was the daughter of a ranking Amtorg official.

This was the beginning of the hounding campaign against me. The father of the culprit threatened me with dire punishment. I was taken to task by our Communist supervisor for exceeding my duties of serving merely as an instructor in certain subjects. When I argued that I regarded moral education as part of my task, he bawled out:

"Since when are teachers supposed to be investigators?"

After this I was ostracized by the Communists within the Soviet colony. They treated me like a pariah and my loneliness grew deeper than ever.

than expected to pull Rizley to victory with him over the latter's opponent, former Democratic Gov. Robert S. Kerr.

The Republican rub in this case is that Sen. Ed Monto, Republican, is retiring and a Democratic victory would help cut down the GOP Senate margin.

In his trek across Oklahoma, Dewey talked mostly of world peace with the then implication that the chances of a world peace would be much better if the Republicans gain control of the White House in November.

In Oklahoma City, he told one of the largest crowds of his campaign, estimated at 10,000 by Police Captain Tom Woods, that if he is elected he will free the government of the "influence of capitalism and materialism and greed."

Dewey's Kansas City speech in the Municipal auditorium, will be broadcast from 8:30 to 9 p. m. Central Standard Time. Tomorrow he heads for Minnesota and a major speech in St. Paul tomorrow night.
